HONGKONG, APRIL 25TH, 1912.

The ill-effects of the Revolution on the trade of China are forming the subject of much attention in the Chinese Press.
A Presidential Mandate issued last week exhorted the governors of provinces and the people generally to suppress disorder whenever it happens to occur, and bring every influence to bear on the agricultural population to resume work in the fields. "As it is now the Spring season," said the Mandate, "assuredly the work of cultivation should be done in time. The silk and tea will shortly be on the market, but owing to the periodical reports of alarming incidents, the popular mind is ill at ease. Should agricultural work be neglected, or mercantile markets be deserted (as a consequence), then it would be hopeless to expect a harvest and the populace would greatly suffer, the wealthy would become poor people, and the poverty-stricken would starve. When the people can hardly make a living, what will become of the nation? This is what has given me, the President, the greatest pain." Governors (Tutuh) of provinces are consequently enjoined to induce or order the agricultural population to cultivate and to sow in time, and to issue strict commands to the troops and police to preserve the peace and to protect the markets, in order that farmers may diligently work in the fields and merchants may complacently travel on the roads, that an autumn crop of abundance and the gradual recovery of the market may be expected, so that the people may have the wherewithal to live upon and to develop their property. It is, thus, adds the President, that permanent happiness must be sought. Undoubtedly, the need for such an order is great.

From a Shanghai contemporary we learn that the local exporters of silk are looking forward to the next few months with great anxiety. The factor which is causing uneasiness is the transportation of the cash for payment of stocks bought.
From Shanghai all the money is sent inland in the form of silver, and in view of the unsettled state of the country it is being found difficult to insure this money. In these circumstances the merchants are in a serious dilemma, and in some quarters the fear is expressed that it may not be possible to make the usual purchases. This dearth of money in the interior is evidently being reflected in the growing paralysis of trade in many directions. We notice a Northern Chinese newspaper ascribes it to the worship of Western forms of civilisation: the burden of the complaint is that the people are not patronising home industries, and all the money is going into the pockets of importers of foreign goods. People in evergrowing numbers are abandoning the ancient dress of China, and they are showing preference for foreign material, notwithstanding that it costs much more than Chinese silks and cottons. Thus, "the Chinese looms are idle everywhere, and the demand for native piece-goods falls off alarmingly, while the supply of foreign caps, hats, boots and ready-made clothes hardly suffices to meet the demand." No doubt this change of fashion is greatly affecting the weaving industry of China, but if it is a fact that "since the civil war the industry of the entire country has been paralysed," the explanation is to be found not in the wild supposition that "the foreign merchants are sapping away the wealth of the nation," but rather in the unsettled state of the country which makes the transportation of merchandise or money extremely risky. The President is evidently well-informed on the subject, and it is to be hoped that in the interests alike of native industrial enterprise and foreign commerce his advice will be generally accepted and his commands faithfully obeyed.

From communications reaching us, it evident that the reference made in our yesterday's issue to the ordinance passed in 1844 to secure "the peace and quiet of the inhabitants of the town of Victoria and its vicinity at night-time," touches a question in which a large portion of the European community is deeply interested. Many readers, we are sure, will be grateful for the information communicated to us by the management of the Chinese Y.M.C.A. that they will do their best to mitigate the annoyance caused by the newly-formed brass band who are learning "to disperse harmony"— but, if we may venture to say so, appear a long way yet from recognising the distinction between harmony and the most horrible discord. Exile to Lantau is not, however, deemed to be a practical suggestion, and it is hoped that the distress of residents within earshot will be minimised by the time for practice being fixed a little earlier than at present. Our attention has been called by one correspondent to the motor-car nuisance at night. He hopes that our comments may have the effect of putting a stop to the noise made by these cars which career through the streets of the colony, tooting their horns, usually until three or four o'clock in the morning. Further, as this ordinance was passed before Kowloon had become a residential area, we are asked whether the ordinance is applicable to noises in Kowloon, as being "in the vicinity of the town of Victoria." Our advice is: test it by a summons. We are further informed that the noise made in the Indian military encampment on the water-front is not the only noise, nor the worst, that Kowloon residents have to complain about: the "peace and quiet" of the neighbourhood is frequently disturbed in quarters where residents might more reasonably expect it to be preserved. A joint letter of remonstrance from aggrieved residents should be sufficient to remedy the matter in these cases. Our attention has been also called in the interest of many sufferers in Kowloon to the barking-dog nuisance. If the law we quoted yesterday applies to Kowloon the nervous people who keep these annoying animals can surely be said to cause the disturbance of the peace and quiet of the neighbourhood, and so render themselves liable to the pains and penalties provided by the ordinance. It would be worth the while of sufferers in Kowloon to test the applicability of the ordinance to that district. There is a prevalent belief that the law of the Colony provides no protection from the dog-barking nuisance. Certain powers are vested in the police to shoot stray dogs, and we understand that stray dogs are the chief offenders, but we can well understand the reluctance of the police to use their powers.

It is not, however, only stray dogs which bark at night, and if the law as it stands is not adequate to meet what appears to be a wide-spread grievance, it seems opportune to suggest, while the Ordinance of the Colony are being revised, that this is a matter to which attention should be given.

A Chinese, convicted of selling opium dross, was at the Magistracy yesterday fined $25.

For returning from banishment a Chinese was yesterday sentenced to six months' imprisonment.

British, German and American troops are to protect the Peitaiho summer resort during the summer months.

The meeting of the General Chamber of Commerce to elect a representative on the Legislative Council, takes place this afternoon.

Six dead bodies were picked up by the police yesterday in various parts of the Colony. Only in one case was death due to small-pox.

The directors of the Tongshan Cement Company have recommended a dividend of 16 per cent. on preferred shares and 8 per cent. on ordinary shares.

Many in Hongkong to whom Dr. Paul C. Freer, Director of the Bureau of Science in the Philippines, was known, will regret to learn that his illness has had a fatal termination.

Dr. Sun Yat Sen arrived in Hongkong yesterday by the s.s. Tai-shan en route to Canton. The Republican flag was in consequence much in evidence in the Colony during the day.

Six Chinese women were at the Magistracy yesterday charged with causing an obstruction by placing bamboo poles on the roadway at West Point, and were each fined two dollars.

We have received two letters commenting on the severity of the sentence imposed on E. B. Ayris at the Criminal Assizes, but the grounds of criticism are such that we consider no useful purpose can be served by their publication.

Damages amounting to $1,300 and costs were awarded at Singapore by the Chief Justice in favour of Captain David Jones, who brought an action for $3,000 damages against a Japanese dentist named Iwatsubo for negligent, improper and unskillful treatment of the plaintiff in a professional capacity.

Mrs. Keany, the wife of a soldier, appeared at the Magistracy yesterday in support of a charge of snatching preferred against a Chinese youth, who snatched her handbag from her while in Garden Road on Tuesday, stealing $12.20. There are several other charges against the accused, who was remanded.

An old woman living in the Eastern district has been duped by alleged fortune tellers. It was stated that they pretended to tell her fortune and induced her to part with $3,900. When she went to the address given by them, the men were absent, and inquiry by the police has not yet led to their discovery.

The Japanese Legation has contradicted the statement alleged in northern Chinese papers that the Japanese Minister had expressed belief that there was something in the report that Yuan Shih-kai presented three million taels to Dr. Sun Yat-sen to procure his resignation of the Presidency.
The communication from the Japanese Legation says that Mr. Ijima has never made the statement alleged.

STEAMERS COLLIDE NEAR HONGKONG.

The Danish steamer Arabien, which came into Hongkong yesterday morning, reported that she had been in collision with the British steamer Cambridge about 300 miles north of Hongkong, in a fog, and was considerably damaged. The accident occurred about three o'clock on Monday afternoon. The Cambridge was on her way to Shanghai from Hongkong with a cargo of coal, while the Arabien was on her way to Hongkong from Moji.
It appears that the Cambridge struck the Arabien aft broadside on. No plates were penetrated, but the indentation, extended almost to the keel, and No. 3 hold was partially flooded. The Cambridge suffered but slight damage and both ships were able to proceed to their respective destinations. After discharging her cargo, the Arabien will be docked.

WELSH DISESTABLISHMENT.

THE BILL INTRODUCED.

LONDON, April 24th.

In the House of Commons, Mr.
Reginald McKenna introduced the Welsh Disestablishment Bill. He said it bore a great similarity to Mr. Asquith's Bill of 1909. It was proved beyond dispute that the Church of Wales included a small minority of the actively religious people of Wales, and consequently could not claim to be the national Church. An enormous proportion of the Welsh members favoured the Bill. All Ecclesiastic jurisdiction and law would be abolished from the 1st July after the passing of the Act. Commissioners would be appointed to receive existing Church property, and distribute it. The total income of the Church was £260,000, and it would be gradually reduced to £180,000.
Some of the endowments would be divided amongst the Welsh colleges, libraries and museums.

Lord Robert Cecil said the Bill was purely destructive and was prompted by envy and sectarianism. It would injure religion incalculably. The leaving of certain funds to the Church was a concession made not in justice but in fear.
This attempt to buy off the Opposition would fail as their principles were not for sale.

THE HOME RULE BILL.

LONDON, April 24th.

The Dublin Mansion House was crammed when the National Convention met, four thousand people being unable to obtain admission. Mr.
Redmond presented a motion, which was seconded by the Lord Mayor of Cork, that the Home Rule Bill be approved. There was a scene of enthusiasm, lasting for several minutes.

Mr. Redmond characterised the Home Rule Bill as the greatest and most satisfactory ever offered to Ireland, and said they would be a nation of fools if they did not accept it. He considered the financial part of the Bill was far better than in previous Bills. He favoured the nominated Senate, in view of the experiences of the Colonies, and he wanted the Senate crowded with men who have been hitherto unsympathetic to the Nationalists, men who had a great stake in the country, and representative of literature and art.

TELEGRAMS.

THE "TITANIC" CALAMITY.

FURTHER EVIDENCE TAKEN
AT WASHINGTON.

THIRD OFFICER'S STATEMENT.

At the Senate Inquiry, which is being continued at Washington Fittman, the third officer of the Titanic, stated that he left the Titanic in a boat carrying forty people. He admitted that it might have held sixty. Cries of distress continued for an hour after the sinking of the ship. He wanted to go to their rescue, but the passengers demurred, and he yielded. Immediately after the Titanic sank, he heard four explosions like those of distant big guns. He believed they were caused by the bulkheads collapsing, and not the explosion of the boiler. He did not hear any cries of distress before the ship dived, but after that there was one continuous moan, lasting for an hour.
He was not aware whether the watertight doors were closed, but they would have been useless in any case, as the iceberg tore out the side of the ship. If the vessel had struck the berg head on, she would have been afloat to-day. When the collision occurred, the Titanic was going at 21½ knots, the greatest speed on the trip. He thought it possible that searchlights, if they had been carried, would have revealed the proximity of icebergs.

EVIDENCE OF THE LOOK-OUT MEN.

The lookout man who was in the crow's nest testified that he reported the berg shortly before the collision. He would probably have seen it in time to prevent the collision if he had had glasses, but these were not provided.
When first seen, the berg was apparently the size of two large tables, but it became larger, and was fifty or sixty feet above water when the ship struck it. If he had had glasses, he could have seen it soon enough for the Titanic to have avoided it.
It was customary for the lookout to have glasses and he had asked for them at Southampton, but the officer to whom he applied told him there were none for the lookout. They had glasses on the voyage from Belfast to Southampton, but none after leaving Southampton. When he saw the iceberg, he sounded three bells and telephoned to the bridge. He got a prompt response, and though the ship was not stopped, she started porting.

A PASSENGER'S VIEWS.

A passenger named Major Peuchen of Toronto, said he was travelling with ten friends, all of whom were drowned.
After the collision he took Mr. Hays to see the ice which had fallen on the deck.
He noticed that Mr. Hays, who was among the lost, said: "It does not matter, this ship is unsinkable."

Major Peuchen said that when the boats were being lowered the discipline was splendid, but he was surprised that more sailors were not at their posts. About one hundred stokers came up, crowding the deck, but an officer drove them back like sheep. The failure to sound the alarm after the collision accounted for the non-appearance of many women in time to take to the boats. He wondered why more men were not taken, as none could live in the icy water for more than an hour. He expressed the opinion that if the lookouts had had glasses, the ship might have been saved. He read a statement praising Captain Smith, but criticising the policy and methods of the company.

THE DETENTION OF MR. ISMAY.

After the adjournment of the inquiry, Mr. Ismay and Mr. Franklin urgently requested permission to return to New York, but the Committee declined to allow them.

THE RELIEF FUND.

The Queen of Norway has contributed 100 guineas to the relief funds, which now total £170,000.

SHIPOWNERS AND BOAT ACCOMMODATION.

In the House of Commons, Mr. Sydney Buxton announced that representatives of sixteen lines had met the Board of Trade, and intimated either that they had already provided boat accommodation for all passengers, or would do so at the earliest possible moment. The lines represented included the Union Castle, Royal Mail, Orient, Bucknall, Shaw, Savill, and Aberdeen. He further announced that the P. and O. Co. though not represented, had informed him that they had already provided boat accommodation for all passengers.

IRISH SYMPATHY.

At the Irish Convention, Mr. Redmond made feeling references to the Titanic disaster, and the Convention, standing in silence, passed a resolution of sympathy.

AUSTRALIAN POLAR EXPEDITION.

LONDON, April 24th.

Despatches from the Mawson Polar Expedition state that already discoveries of high importance have been made.
Professor Mawson has disproved the existence of Clairie Land, but has confirmed the existence of Termination Land, and has discovered numerous islets along the great ice barrier. He has also charted much of a previously unknown coast line.

The Aurora returns to the Antarctic at the end of the year to bring back the expedition.

STRIKES IN RUSSIA.

SYMPATHY WITH THE SLAUGHTERED AT LENA.

LONDON, April 24th.

A St. Petersburg telegram states that the Lena disturbance are only echoing the feeling in various parts of Russia.
Telegrams from Kieff state that all hands in the South Russian machinery works have struck in sympathy with the people of Lena. A mass meeting was held, but was dispersed, the streets being patrolled by Cossacks. Work has also stopped at the Nicolaieff shipbuilding works, as a sign of mourning. Nobel's workmen at St. Petersburg are also striking.

LAWN BOWLS.

A match was played on the Police Green on Tuesday for silver spoons presented by Inspector McHardy between two rinks, one "under forty" and the other "over forty." The veterans won. Scores:—

WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY.

MARCONI'S UNITED WIRELESS.

The Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company of America last month succeeded in their action against the United Wireless Telegraph Company and Clyde Steamship Company. In this action which was brought for infringement of the Marconi Company's American Patent corresponding to their well-known English Patent No. 7777 of 1900 (the master Patent covering the principle of syntonisation and selectivity), and which was already part heard, both the Defendants acknowledged the validity and scope of the Patent, admitted their infringement and submitted to judgment a permanent injunction in favour of the Marconi Company. The 600 ship installations and the 70 land stations which had been erected and worked by the United Wireless Telegraph Company pass into the hands of the Marconi Company.

The Parent Company, Marconi's Wireless Telegraph Company Limited, have an action pending in England against
for infringement of Letters Patent Nos.
12324 of 1898 and 7777 of 1900 by the installation of the United Wireless system on various British boats and it is stated that the Defendants are about to consent to judgment in this action also. As a result the installations on the ships carrying the British flag and fitted with the United Wireless system will pass into the possession of the Marconi Company.

The effect of this decision is to confirm the famous judgment of Mr. Justice Parker given last year in the action brought by Marconi's Wireless Telegraph Company, Limited, against the British Radio Telegraph and Telephone Company, Limited, upholding Patent No. 7777 of 1900, and also to give the name value and importance to the corresponding American Marconi Patent.

CORRESPONDENCE
EMPIRE DAY.

[TO THE EDITOR OF THE "HONGKONG DAILY PRESS,"]

83, Lancaster Gate, London, W., 28th March, 1912.

SIR.—The time has again arrived when I trust I may be permitted through your courtesy to remind your readers of the near approach of "Empire Day," and to earnestly appeal to them for help in making the observance of the day universal throughout the Empire.

As is already well-known the "Empire Movement" is a non-party, non-sectarian, non-aggressive, non-racial effort to awaken the peoples who constitute the British Empire to the serious duties which lie at their door. The Watchwords of the Movement are, Responsibility, Duty, Sympathy, Self-Sacrifice. May these words be engraven on the hearts of all British subjects, but especially of the young, who in a few years' time will be responsible for the righteous governance of the 400 millions of peoples who are to be found within the confines of the Empire.

Last year, from information received by the Secretary, "Empire Day" or "Victoria Day" as it is called in some parts of the Empire, was observed in the United Kingdom in 22,026 Schools, Training Colleges, and Institutions, with an average attendance of 4,400,468 Scholars; whilst in the Overseas Dominions it was kept in 37,365 Schools, with an estimated attendance of about 4,000,000 Scholars; making a total throughout the Empire of 59,391 Schools, Training Colleges and Institutions with an attendance of 8,400,468 Scholars. Allowing for the number of those present at the various "Empire Day" celebrations, and of those attending the services, over 8,000 in number, where sermons and addresses emphasising the watchwords of the movement were delivered, it may fairly be assumed that some seventeen millions of British subjects came under the influence of the movement in 1911. It is confidently believed that the above figures will be largely increased this year.

If for any cause it should be considered inadvisable to observe "Empire Day" on May 24th, there is no reason why it should not be kept on some other day not far removed from that date, or on June 22nd (the Anniversary of the Coronation of King George V., and of the Diamond Jubilee of Queen Victoria).

Although the observance of "Empire Day" should not be neglected, it is hoped that the noble ideals of the movement, represented by the watchwords, will be constantly kept before the minds of the scholars in all British Schools throughout the King's Dominions.

Who will help to train the rising generation in the duties of Imperial responsibilities? Volunteer Workers of Independent means, who are willing to labour without remuneration, and at their own expense, in the promotion of the Empire Movement, are greatly needed, and are invited to send their names to the Central Office at the above address, and they will receive printed instructions in regard to the nature of the assistance which is requested at their hands.

There are many schools in poor districts throughout the Empire, which are not provided with Flagstaffs and Union Jacks. How can the boys and girls in these schools salute a non-existent flag?
I hope all who believe in the healthy, national influence of the movement will endeavour to assist some poor school to obtain a flag and flagstaff, and will, if possible, supplement these gifts by a large map of the Empire, such as the "Navy League" or "Howard Vincent" maps, and by a portrait of the King.
Copies of the "Empire Catechism," which should be learnt by heart by all British children, and of the song-books to be sung on "Empire Day," and all information connected with the movement can be obtained from the Secretary, 83, Lancaster Gate, London, W.—I am, Sir,

NOTES AND NEWS.

A HINT TO CHURCH-CONGREGATIONS.
"If you can't sing, make a joyful noise." is the advice given to the congregation of Baddow-road, Chelmsford (Essex), Church, by a writer in the Church Magazine.

BLACK DIAMONDS.
Among the valuables exhibited for sale in the window of a curiosity shop in Cursitor-street (says the London correspondent of the Manchester Guardian) is a small writing at the end of March) is a small specimen of a certain black mineral.
It is labelled "Very scarce. Real coal.
This piece 2s. 6d."

"GEORGES" GIFT TO THE KING.
The Coronation gift from the Georges of the Empire to the King was presented privately on Saturday, March 30th, by Earl Cuzson, Sir George Reid, and Lord George Hamilton, on behalf of the subscribers, whose cordial good wishes they conveyed to the King. His Majesty, in replying, sincerely thanked the committee and the subscribers for their present and good wishes. The gift takes the form of the badge, or "George," of the Order of the Garter, which joins together the two ends of the broad blue ribbon which forms part of the insignia. It is thickly studded with diamonds of absolute purity and exquisite workmanship. It will be worn by the King on the first possible occasion.

HUMOUR AT COURT.
Prince Arthur of Connaught tells a little story of the most perfect "bull" he ever heard. To make the story read properly, it should have been told by a Irish lady who was responsible for it.
Unfortunately, however, says the Gentleman, it was one of the best known ornaments of the English peerage.
She had been ill for some little time, and Prince Arthur congratulated her upon her presence, and expressed the hope that she had completely recovered. "Well, no, as a matter of fact, I have not," she was careful to explain. "Indeed, I should not have been here now if I had not come." As His Royal Highness remarks, "this seems pretty obvious." There is a case upon record in which a young lady once suffered so severely from "stage-fright" as to be unable to appear at a Court, by the way—that when the late Queen Victoria extended her hand for the customary kiss, she warmly shook it and asked "how she was!"

LEAF YEAR PARADOX.
Did you ever know, says a writer in the Baltimore Sun, that just because you live in Maryland, when you wake up on the morning of February 29th you are waking up on the day before? Or, rather, that you are waking up on the day after?
Or that February 28th and February 29th are one and the same day? Well, it's true, all of it. Might sound a little strange until you get used to it, but, try as you will, there's no getting around the fact that Maryland has but one day for February 28th and 29th. Some other States have two days, but this State has only one. The reason? It's easy. Way back in the year 1236, when Henry III. was King of England, they framed a law making February 28th and February 29th one and the same day. The old common law of England is still in force in Maryland, so there you are. If you have a promissory note coming due on February 28th, why you don't have to pay it until February 29th.

A remarkable case, involving a married woman's right to all her husband's property, is before the courts in New York.
Dr. Emory Einhorn, has appealed to the court to restore to him savings of $20,000, which are in the possession of his wife, which are from whom he is separated. Dr.
Einhorn states, the Mail says, that when they married he and his wife had only a few pounds each, and they agreed that these and their savings should be put into a common fund, which, because of the husband's untimely inclination, should be kept in the wife's name. When the fund had reached its present total of $20,000, of which he had contributed practically the whole, his wife quarrelled with him, separated from him, and he is left practically penniless in old age, while she is rich. The wife's reply is that the accumulation of the money is due to her economical influence on her husband, and that the money is rightfully hers. The courts first upheld her contention, declaring that the doctor's savings were a gift.
The husband is now appealing against this decision.

Certain gentlemen are now in England from the Far North-West of North America endeavouring to make arrangements with view to completing the line of railway across the "Behring" Straits; this idea being eventually to construct a tunnel under those Straits to Siberia, to which point the Russian Government are pushing their railways. Leading financiers have the matter under consideration, and prominent contractors and engineers have been consulted. It is believed, therefore, that the construction of this important tunnel linking up vast continents by means of these railway systems may
